QUBE YOUTH SCHOLARS NETWORK

- QUBE programs are open to all middle and high school students who are curious about applying math, data, and science to real-world challenges in biology, medicine, and public health. The program is free!

- All levels of learners are welcome.

- Through structured training, mentorship, and project-based learning, participants progress from foundational to advanced analytical skills, gaining both technical expertise and the confidence to contribute meaningfully as emerging data scientists, health researchers, and changemakers.

Mission Statement

QUBE is a nonprofit organization dedicated to empowering youth to explore the intersection of data, life sciences, medicine, and public health. We believe that understanding data-driven decision-making is essential for addressing today's challenges in health and society.

Through mentorship, hands-on learning, and interdisciplinary collaboration, QUBE prepares young people to apply mathematical, computational, and statistical reasoning to real-world biological and health problems, nurturing informed, innovative, and compassionate leaders of tomorrow.

QUBE: Vison Statement

To inspire and equip the next generation of problem-solvers with the analytical, scientific, and ethical tools to improve health and well-being, from biological systems to community outcomes, around the world.
